

Action Learning

Action Learning is a unique way to tackle real problems or issues in order to get things done. Action Learning brings individuals together in small groups where they can explore issues around their direct experience and develop actions around them through the support and exploratory questions of a group.

This is open to anyone who has a focus on community engagement or community development as part of their work. The action learning set will be limited to 6 people plus the facilitator and is a structured and facilitated process that has 5 key elements:

- Issue holders arrive at their own action points and insights about real-life work challenges
- Value comes from hearing others talk through problems and identifying options
- Leadership, questioning, listening and decision-making skills are developed
- Learning comes from the topics shared and from reflecting on the group process
- A facilitator guides encourages and maintains the structure of the session and the focus on learning

For those attending we will host 6 sessions and all members will get the opportunity to fully participate in being issue holders, helping colleagues explore questions, reflecting on learning This is a great way to develop your skills in reflective practice and directly feed into to quality and forward actions of your delivery and development as a community engagement / development practitioner. .
